SIVAL 2025

An edition full of enthusiasm

After three intense days of discussions and meetings, the SIVAL, which took place at the Parc des Expositions in Angers from 14 to 16 January closed its doors.

Nearly 25 000 Visitors came to this unique show, a showcase for innovation and solutions for the future of specialist plant production.

Once again this figure confirmed the interest of the whole profession for the SIVAL, and reinforces its place as a leading show and an unmissable event on the national stage.

'Future' and 'solutions' are the words that stand out at this 38th edition. In fact numerous unprecedented rendezvous amplified a programme that was already very full and aimed at the future of the sectors. The Tour de France des Alternatives by the CTIFL, restitutions at ClimatVeg, Daily Rendezvous about diversification, but also technical and targeted conferences ; again the SIVAL shows and affirms its ambition : to provide solid solutions to the huge challenges facing our production, such as climate change, competitiveness of farms, and the attractiveness of the different sectors.

Internationally, this 38th edition stood out because of the arrival of highly qualified foreign visitors with a huge potential for investment. Supported by the VIBE business convention from VEGEPOLYS VALLEY, this international development places the SIVAL as a first class business show for plant production companies, as well as contributing to the reputation of the region and its know-how.

Finally, another key event at this 38th edition was the change of presidency for the SIVAL. After 20 years as president of the show, Bruno Dupont has passed the baton over to Albert Richard, a tree producer in Corzé and President of the Vergers d'Anjou.
