#SIVAL21

Tuesday 30th June 2020

The Specialist Plant Production Show (SIVAL) will be opening its doors in Angers, from 12 to 14 January 2021

at the Angers Parc des Expositions

The SIVAL looks forward to your presence from the 12 to the14 January 2021 at the Angers Parc des Expositions. Organised by Destination Angers, this 35th edition will be part of a post crisis dynamic. Future trends and feed back from trials covering the consequences and the opportunities, will be featured for interaction and the construction of the future of the specialist plant production sector together.

As part of this framework, innovation will be even more important as a solution for adapting, not only to crisis situations, but also more generally, to the evolution of practices and societal demands. The two SIVAL Innovation Concours and Agreen Startup will be the figureheads.

New for 2021 : the digital SIVAL
The SIVAL will be continuing its digitalization in order to help visitors and exhibitors. As a result, a digital platform will be providing a full overview of the SIVAL (exhibitor referencing, highlights…). It will also enable exhibitors and visitors to program their rendezvous before the Show. The evolution of this tool will also integrate the international sector.

The SIVAL will enable everyone to meet up together with one objective: interact and construct the future of the specialist vegetable production sector.
